This evocative picture of a penny-farthing outside a shop is just one of a superb collection which has just been released in a book documenting the retail history of Deal.

Shops Remembered In Deal And Walmer is by Judith Gaunt, who will be performing signings of her work in the area over the coming weeks.

Most of the pictures in the book are published for the first time and have been loaned by people in the Deal area. They go as far back as the 19th century, encompassing both world wars, boom years and times of hardship. • FULL STORY PAGE 2

THE threat of flooding in Deal has brought a call from campaigners for greater accountability on the part of both elected representatives and public bodies.

Last week a meeting looked into the problem of the town's blocked drains, which has been highlighted in Yourdeal in recent weeks.

It was called as many locals fear that the town's drains, some of which are blocked with debris, would be unable to cope with heavy rains.

The worry is that water would not be carried away and instead would flood streets, causing damage to homes and property.

The issue was first raised by former town mayor Deryck Murray and following the meeting he called on councillors to make the matter a priority – and for action, not words.
"The people of Deal want action by seeing the roadside drains being cleaned of rubbish,

"It is the duty of our elected representatives to ensure that the people who elected them are protected as far as is possible from the risks of flooding

"If they are unwilling to exert all their energies to this aim, they should resign."

Meanwhile, farmer Trevor Vince, from Finglesham, who has seen the results of flooding, called on other bodies to act.

He said: "Deal's street drains are the responsibility of three organisations - the Highways Agency for street drains and gullies, Southern

ALL sorts of stores including butchers, bakers and candlemakers are commemorated in a new book which celebrates the retail history of Deal.

The 160-page work, entitled Shops Remembered In Deal And Walmer, is by local writer Judith Gaunt and contains 200 photographs, some of which have never been seen in print before.

Each evokes the feeling of shopping in a bygone era and pictures such as those showing a penny-farthing cycle add to the atmosphere.

Featured businesses include Ricemans, Brown and Phillips, Baldwins and The Dustpan Stores. There are also pictures of the town during the Second World War which graphically illustrate the damage it suffered.

Other pictures show rabbit carcass es dangling from meat-hooks, old lorries and trucks and a holiday outing, along with the High Street decorated with bunting for a royal event.

To bring things up to date, the end of the Woolworth store is shown, as well as the opening of the new Mini Stores in Orchard Avenue this summer.

Judith, 55, said: "The recession is an illustration of how shops can change. I felt it was time someone documented the changes Deal has gone through"

The author became interested in

LOOKING BACK: Judith Gaunt's new book is filled with images of shops from yesteryear local history while studying for a degree in librarianship to complement her existing one in English. As part of the study she looked into the past of the Sainsbury's site in West Street.

"I kept coming across evocative accounts of horse-drawn milk carts and delivery vehicles running amok down the High Street, shedding their loads or colliding with shop fronts," she said.

"There were references to early closing being 8pm and struggles over the centuries, whether from war, recession or threat of redevelopment - often caused by road-widening.

"I realised many of the shops had disappeared and decided I had to record their history before they were forgotten. It's been a painstaking task but one I have thoroughly enjoyed and I'm so grateful to everyone who lent photographs or provided information.

"I hope it will stir the memories of people who have lived here for a long time, as well as giving younger residents an idea of our history."

• Judith will sign copies of her book at Roper's in Deal High Street on Friday and at nearby
Tyler's the following day from 11am until 1pm

Lions roar to victory against the marines

DEAL and Betteshanger Lions Rugby Club won their special chal-lenge match against the Band of the Royal Marines.

The match was held in the town to remember the 11 soldiers who died in the bombing of the Royal Marines School of Music 20 years ago.

They went through to a 48-5 victory in a game played in an excellent spirit. The match at Drill Field is now set to become an annual occasion and it was proceeded by a memorial service.

Stores fall victim to distraction theives

SIX businesses across the area have been targeted by a group of thieves.

The gang operate by distracting staff by claiming they have a relative who has mislaid property in the store or they have been asked to collect something.

While staff are looking elsewhere they then attempt to steal money from the till.

Anyone with information should phone the police on 01303 850055.

Special welcome for Cinque Ports quests

THE mayors of Deal and Sandwich both took part in a day of pomp and ceremony as the first citizens of the Cinque Ports towns descended on Dover as guests of Sue Jones, the Mayor of Dover.

Bill Gardner and Joe Trussler were both in the procession, led by Lord Warden, Admiral the Lord Boyce, which wound its way from the town hall to St Mary's Church.

CCTV success rates up

A TOTAL of 45 incidents were dealt with in Deal as a result of coverage of the town by CCTV cameras.

In all, 367 incidents were recorded across Dover, Deal and Sandwich, with more than 250 in Dover itself.

This was higher than has been registered in previous Septembers and resulted in 44 arrests, while 33 vulnerable people were assisted.

Dramatic new addition a little ray of sunshine

BY NICK AMES

PANTOMIME couple Paul and Emily Hendy are celebrating their latest production – baby Poppy Sunshine, who owes her second name to the theme tune of comedy legends Morecambe and Wise.

The impresarios from Eastry are in their busiest period of the year, with Peter Pan, starring Adrian Edmondson, set to open this season in The Marlowe Theatre Arena, Canterbury, and Star Trek's George Takei playing the Emperor of China in Aladdin at Chatham's Central Theatre.

However, they are still managing to enjoy time with Poppy, who is just 10 weeks old but has already made her screen debut.

"We are producing Cinderella in Guildford as one of the three shows we are doing outside Kent this year," said Paul

"We needed a baby for a screened flashback sequence – so Poppy became Baby Cinders for a day. "She was just four weeks old at the time.

Poppy has also been in her cot on Paul's desk as he conducts of Young Ones star Edmondson, the legendary Mr Sulu and East-Enders actor Shaun Williamson for his acclaimed shows.

"Sometimes we'll be talking to a top agent on the end of the phone and she'll be gurgling away in the background," said Emily.

"But she's great and really well behaved. She was born at the Queen Elizabeth the Queen Mother Hospital and it was a straightforward, nine-hour birth.

Paul said he was really looking forward to this winter's season and explained the couple had an added challenge.

"The closure of The Marlowe means we have to use a new venue and it's spectacular," he said. "The Marlowe Arena seats 1,200 and while it is a giant marquee it has all the amenities of a theatre."

Emily and Paul both agree that the economic downturn hasn't

Paul said: "Panto seems to be recession-proof – tickets are selling really well. Maybe people realise they have to make economies, but this is one treat they don't want to miss out on.'

Emily added: "It's one of the few things left that whole generations of the same family can enjoy together and that's what makes it so special.

EARLY START: Paul and Emily Hendy and son Freddie have already introduced baby Poppy to the family business with a part in Cinderella when she was four weeks old

Musicians show faith in charity

TWO singer-songwriters are set to raise funds for the Cystic Fibrosis Trust.

Kayley Weller, 21, from Deal, and Luke

Jackson, 15, from Canterbury, have both written and performed songs for the album entitled Faith.

The project has been masterminded by manager and promoter Lee Robson, from Rochdale, who wanted to do something for the charity after meeting Kelli Gallacher, one of its young ambassadors who has cystic fibrosis.

The condition is one of the UK's most common life-threatening inherited diseases and claims three lives a week in

Lee said: "Unsigned artists and bands from all over the world are taking part and all songs on the album have been written by the artists themselves or by writers they work with."

The album Faith will be released on Monday, October 26.

Town flooding 'nothing to do with outfall'

Water for underground pipe systems and the Environment Agency for the disposal of the water once it leaves the system.

"Deal's drainage system is very old and has to cope with much more run-off of water than hitherto.

"The fall [in level] from the road drains to the exit point on the marshes is not great enough to empty the system, so in heavy rain the water in the pipe backs up through the road drains.

Mr Vince said he had been calling on the Environment Agency to improve the land drainage.

The main problems are the water levels on the marshes," he said. "But the Environment Agency is more concerned about wildlife habitat.

"In the past, land drainage was carried out by the Internal Drainage Boards [IDBs] and farmers and landowners paid drainage rates and still do. In recent years the Government passed the direct responsibili-ty for land drainage to the Environment Agency."

A spokesman for the Environment Agency said: "We are aware of the issue of flooding in Deal, but not that the outfall has anything to do with this.

Former retreat is in need of rehab after scavengers run riot

A TREATMENT centre once dubbed the "Ab Fab of Rehab" because of its celebrity clients is now a target for thieves and vandals.

In recent weeks, fittings such as radiators have been stolen from the derelict site of the Promis Recovery Centre, close to Nonnington.

Police say they are aware of the problem at the building, which was destroyed by two fires, and are talking to the building's owner, believed to be the Royal Bank of Scotland.

One villager said: "You see trucks and lorries coming and going and it is common knowledge things are being taken. There was not too much left before the fires, but that has not stopped the scavengers."

Police suspect at least one of the August blazes which wrecked the property was started deliberately.

The Promis achieved fame in the 80s and early 90s by treating highprofile clients such as Elton John's manager John Reid. TV stars were also treated for alcohol and drug addiction at the centre, which prided itself on secrecy and discretion under the guidance of director Dr Robin Lefever. However, the business went into liquidation last year. The two fires destroyed much of the framework of the building, which is hidden within three acres of grounds surrounded by trees.

A police spokesman said: "The building had been derelict for some time before the fires and even then was a target for vandals.

"We are aware of the current situation and are in contact with the owners about security at the site."

Castle restoration

WORK has started on a £250,000 restoration project to conserve historic brickwork on the defences at the northern tip of Dover Castle.

Steve Lang, of English Heritage, said: "We are stabilising areas where movement has occurred in the maze of brick-built passages known as caponiers.

"We are also carrying out repairs to the roofs, the eaves and repointing brickwork. Visitors may see scaffolding in the ditches, but the tunnels will remain fully open and visible.

The work will ensure this unique part of Dover Castle remains in good order and can be enjoyed by generations to War memorial campaign to press culture minister

GEORGE Cross For Dover campaigners are stepping up their push for a war memorial within the ruins of St James's Church by calling for a meeting with the culture minister.

Alan Taylor, of Kings Ropewalk, Aycliffe, said he had been forced to take the action after English Heritage turned down the group's plans for a freestanding memorial for the 219 Dover civilians who died as a result of enemy action during the world wars.

He has also called for an investigation into the management of Dover's historical sites, saying English Heritage prioritises the castle

"All they care about is the castle and making money," he claimed. "They need to spend more on other historic parts of Dover but don't seem to think this is important.

"I'm taking this to the top now and calling for an appointment with culture minister Margaret Hodge to explain how badly our heritage in Dover is being managed."

Mr Taylor told Yourdover he was disgusted at English Heritage spending so much money on a helicopter to film the castle illumination of the Great Tower in August.

He said: "Thousands were spent on that launch, some of which could have been used to fix the walls in the St James's Church ruins,"

But an English Heritage official defended the extravagant launch at the castle and stressed that the organisation wanted to do what was best for the district.

She said: "English Heritage is supporting the town of Dover. Investing in Dover Castle benefits the town.

"The castle attracts more than 300,000 people every year and draws visitors to Dover. Our £2.5 million Great Tower experience, which opened in August, is already boosting visits and over the next few years we expect the number of people visiting both the castle and town to soar.

"In the past few years, we have also grantaided two churches in the district, St Clement's in Sandwich and St Mary's in Walmer, and are supporting improvements to the promenade.

"In addition, we contributed £200,000 towards a historic environment regeneration scheme for Dover between 2003 and 2006 and are contributing the majority funding towards the production of a conservation plan for the Western Heights

"We are also happy to consider any appli-cations for grants for the repair of historic buildings in Dover.

But Mr Taylor said he would continue his fight and would not be backing down until a war memorial was erected at the St James's Church

Tougher stance deters the yobs

THE tragic deaths of Fiona Pilkington and her disabled daugter may have been prevented had a "robust" approach to antisocial behaviour been taken, according to the Chief Constable of Kent Police.

An inquest heard last month how the mother took her own life and that of Francecca Hardwick by setting fire to her car in a lay-by in Leicestershire after years of abuse from yobs in her neighbourhood.

Reports in national newspapers have questioned whether a tougher stance, such as that taken by Kent Police with their Dover neighbourhood task team, would have prevented the tragedy.

The county's force introduced the teams into east Kent in 2007 and after proving a success they were rolled out across each district.

The Dover team in particular has been praised for its work on the Buckland estate, which has led to a substantial reduction in antisocial behaviour.

The task team is made up of five officers and one sergeant and provides a quick response to any trouble. It also acts as back-up for other neighbourhood policing teams

Across Kent, antisocial behaviour has dropped by 7.1 per cent and public confidence in the police was at 91 per cent in areas where the teams were active.

Chief Constable Michael Fuller said he hoped the deaths of Mrs Pilkington and her daughter would have been avoided in Kent.

"I think we have a robust response to tackling antisocial behaviour. We have teams of officers that deal with that all day - that is their specialist task," he said. "I hope we would not have an incident like that."

BY MARIJKE COX

In Dover, the neighbourhood task team has proved such a success that in the first two weeks of September there was a 39 per cent drop in the number of reported cases of antisocial behaviour.

Chief Inspector Ken Elmes, Dover district commander, said: "This is all about partnership working to ensure people have a good quality of life.

"Years ago, the police force was a one-stop-shop. But now it's joined with other agencies every aspect of problems can be addressed."

"Through the community safety partnership, which includes the council, the fire service and other organisations, we have to ensure that Dover remains a safe place to work, live

"The community is one of the most important partners we work with as they are the ones who see the problems. Working closely with them and providing PCSOs and officers for them to communicate with is vital."

Guy Thompson, community safety unit supervisor in Dover, said the neighbourhood task teams had proved a great success, particularly on the Buckland estate.

He said: "Work in Buckland has been going on for years. It is a strong community.

"Through the help of residents we have been able to clamp down on troublemakers and tackle antisocial behaviour. The work is on-

"Even if problems are sorted out, the task team will go straight back into an area if it starts again. It's all about sustaining a safe place for people to live."

Funding for the teams is through budget savings and a rise in the police's share of council tax.

Stuart Richardson, coxswain of Dover lifeboat, said: "Fund-raisers are very much the unsung heroes of the RNLI and without their constant hard work the level of service the crews provide would be much reduced.'

QUESTION & ANSWER

PAUL SULLIVAN

() Who or what brought you to Dover?

We chose to open a new funeral service in Dover because we believed there was both room and need for another independent funeral service in the district.

Dover property prices were good at the time and we needed to buy a suitable premises with accommodation above.

While Sullivan & Son is still in its infancy I have worked extensively throughout the district for other funeral firms and so it made sense staying where I was known. I've lived in Kent for 26 years, previously in Deal, Folkestone and Canterbury.

Have you always worked in the funeral business?

Yes, I have always worked in the funeral sector in this area since finishing my Alevels. After a year of letters and perseverance I was taken on by a large group of funeral directors on a YTS-type placement, aged 19.

I was then employed as a trainee funeral

I was then employed as a trainee funeral director and then as a branch funeral director in Folkestone for six years. In 2001 I left to work at a family-run funeral service in Deal and Sandwich before we opened in Dover in March 2007

What was it that attracted you to the job?

A I have always been interested in history and it's a very old occupation, of course, with an important and essential role in society, which appealed to me.

I imagined it would be a very interesting, secure and rewarding career choice, which it is. To bury the dead is said to be one of the corporal works of mercy and when a family entrust the body of one they love to us this could be considered a sacred duty and in many ways a privilege.

Mhen did you decide to start up on your own?

I guess from the very start it was always an eventual goal, but money and location were the two biggest issues. It was only about a year before we opened that a friend of our family offered to help financially and therefore made the dream possible. The rest, however, has involved a lot of hard work and determination.

How has it been starting out in the current climate?

To be honest, the recession has had little effect on the funeral trade. There are some 1,200 deaths a year just in the Dover district – and nothing really alters this.

My challenge has been getting a foot in the door against well-established opposition.

Getting recognition and awareness that I have set up on my own has and will continue to take time and effort, but the fact that we have had a 200 per cent increase in numbers in our second year has proved that word is spreading and there is room for us.

What makes you different to other funeral directors?

We try to be different, with unique touches like our black car-flags, stone keepsakes and transparent pricing structure, so clients are only charged for options and services they request.

If a family want to carry the coffin, I will not charge them for bearers. With this in place, I can provide a dignified but low-cost service and certainly the best value in the area.

Also, we have concentrated on eco-friendly options and are the only funeral service in this area using the 'coffin cover' – a cardboard coffin which slides into a traditional oak casket.

Mhat is the best thing about your job?

A Job satisfaction, and I am proud of the large folder of thank-you letters and cards I have received in my 17 years in the service.

Helping someone throughout the process of a death and them acknowledging that help has kept me in the profession. It is a uniquely challenging and rewarding job at the same time.

What is the most challenging thing about your job?

A I have experience of at least 6,000 funerals of every age and this amount of death and grief does accumulate, whether you like it or not. In most cases we are contacted and on the scene days before any other minister or counselling individuals arrive and so we have many hats to wear.

Paul Sullivan, owner of Sullivan and Son funeral service, talks to Marijke Cox about the challenges facing funeral directors and how he is making his business a success in an area of well-established competition

CAUGHT OUT: Recreational catches made on British beaches will count as part of the UK's EU fishing quota in future

Frustrated sea-anglers netted by EU red tape

FISHERMEN have admitted defeat in their battle against planned EU legislation they claim could damage the recreational sea-angling industry.

Kent's boat charter companies, tackle shops and other businesses fear financial ruin if they are forced to abide by the same strict quotas proposed for commercial fishermen.

The European Anglers Alliance (EAA) which includes the UK-based Angling Trust has spent months attempting to convince the European Commission to delete Article 47 of the Common Fisheries Policy, but its appeals have fallen on deaf ears.

Should the EU's Council of Ministers

BY STEVE KNIGHT

accept the policy later this year without acknowledging the alliance's concerns, then sea-anglers throughout Europe may find themselves having to count and record everything they catch.

Those figures would then become part of the UK's fishing quota allowance.

Angling Trust campaigner Leon Roskilly, from Rainham, said: "There are people in some countries who use large nets to catch fish, and we had hoped to get the commission to recognise the difference between that and recreational angling and bring in a more appropriate regulation.
"Unfortunately, we've failed. It's very frustrating because there are no great problems that need to be addressed with recreational sea-angling

"We've just been scooped up in it all. The commission doesn't have the information or the data down to the level it needs to understand the vast differences in the fishing sectors.

Due to its failure to get Article 47 amended, the EAA has lodged an official objection and called for the Council of Ministers to delete it

Among the reasons given are that controlling recreational fisheries is not justified by any factual evidence and that member states are not able to control tens of thousands of boats and millions of anglers. A decision could be made as early as next month, with the new policy introduced on January 1.

Showbiz pals happy to club together

CELEBRITIES lit up Chart Hills Golf Club as they offered their support to a charity golf day.

The stars all gave up their time to enjoy a round of golf in aid of Kent comic Dave Lee's Happy Holidays.

The charity helps hundreds of sick, disabled and disadvantaged children, giving them and their families muchneeded breaks.

Among the big names taking part were Spandau Ballet singer Tony Hadley, former England fast-bowler Dean Head ley, one-time England and Liverpool goalkeeping legend Ray Clemence, Dover Athletic boss Andy Hessenthaler, ex-boxing champion Barry McGuigan and comics Bobby Davro, Brian Conley and Bradley Walsh.

They joined 30 teams taking part. KOS Media, publisher of this newspaper, was the media partner for the event.

The evening's entertainment included performances from 1960s group The Searchers and folk-singer Richard Digance. But it was former cricketer Phil DeFreitas who emerged triumphant on the course.

The all-rounder claimed the longest drive, which "landed in Belgium", according to Mr Lee. He said: "The day was sensational. Everyone enjoyed it and wants to come back next year, with even more teams.

"There were lots of spectators and Tony Hadley and I attracted the most attention. Ladies were swooning over us."

The comic is looking forward to "the most fun you can have with your clothes on" during his role as the fairy god-mother for The Marlowe's Christmas panto, Peter Pan, in Canterbury.

"We're in the final stages of receiving donations from the golf and I want to thank everyone who took part and the sponsors - including KOS Media - for helping our cause which has helped so many children," Mr Lee said.

How officer helped young armed robber go straight

As part of our behind-the-scenes look at the work of Kent Police, Jane Barlow speaks with former violent criminal Bobby Cummines, who has turned his life around. He talks about the positive work of our police force and how his own life has changed...

HAVING spent his teenage years in a young offenders' institution and 13 years in an adult prison you might not expect Bobby Cummines to be an advocate of the police.

He was the youngest person in Britain to be convicted for possession of a sawn-off shotgun, he was locked up for a series of armed robberies and at one point was described by the national media as the country's most dangerous prisoner after taking a governor hostage.

But a supporter of the police he is, after a conversation with a police officer resulted in him turning his life around.

Today, Bobby runs a charity for reformed offenders in Snodland and is a House of Commons advisor on crime and prisons. He has been invited to a Buckingham Palace garden party and was at 10 Downing Street with the Open University, with whom he studied during his sentence, as it celebrated its 40th anniversary.

Bobby said: "The officer who arrested me for the robberies said that I had a good brain and why didn't I use it for business instead of crime. The judge had said a similar thing and I thought about it through my sentence.

"I was in solitary confinement a lot of the time, so I read."

Bobby studied psychology, sociology, economics, politics and housing, and went on to get a degree. He got a job with a housing association life. Preventing youngsters getting involved in trouble is beneficial to the whole community." Bobby said: "I heard about police in Kent organising discos to get children off the streets organising discos to get children off the streets and I thought if they can do something, so can I. But I didn't know anything about kids."

However, it didn't take long for him to get the hang of it and he is thrilled when teachers tell him that months after one of his talks pupils are still quoting his catch phrases – 'mugs take drugs' and 'fools carry tools'.

Bobby also has regular involvement with his two community police officers in Snodland.

He said: "They come to me and say they have a kid who is going off the rails and have I got any ideas. The officers are part of the community. They get involved and they care. They find problems and they find solutions.

"Here in Kent we have a police force we can be proud of. But people need to remember that crime isn't a police problem, or a prison problem—it is a problem for society and to reduce it we need to work together."

Bobby is full of praise for Kent Police.

He said: "They are pro-active in preventing crime. They get involved before there is a problem, rather than picking up the pieces.

"Tm all for their neighbourhood policing. Community officers show people that they are human and approachable. When people see officers out and about on the streets it takes away the fear of crime."

As part of our A Safer Kent Campaign we offered readers the chance to put their questions to Chief Constable Michael Fuller. Here is the second set of answers. See all the questions and answers in full at www.kentnews.co.uk.

How come Kent Police cannot afford its own helicopter and we always have to use the Essex force's one?

James Parnell, Westgate-on-Sea. In the past we have relied on a policy of assistance from other forces when we have needed to use a helicopter, but increasing costs and reduced availability meant we had to examine a new way of providing air support.

To run our own service would cost at least £8 million to set up, and take two years before it was fully implemented. Working with Essex meant we could do this immediately and without having to put in a big initial investment. It has meant the use of the helicopter in Kent has increased by 700 per cent compared to the previous arrangement.

How many murders in the last ten years in Kent remain unsolved?

ofifrin@aol.com

More than 93 per cent of murders that occurred in Kent in the past ten years have been solved. There are currently ten where, so far, no one has been successfully prosecuted.

What is Kent Police's child protection policy and what lessons have Kent Police learned as a result of the Baby P case?

Celia Wilkinson, Tunbridge Wells The key objective of our child protection policy is to safeguard children and investigate child abuse and neglect.

Lord Laming's report in 2003 into the tragic death of Victoria Climbie resulted in a number of significant changes in the way in which child abuse is managed. In April 2004 Kent Police child abuse investigation units were re-structured, staffing levels significantly increased and a substantial amount of money was invested. Last year Kent Police Authority added £750,000 to provide an increased number of officers to manage and monitor offenders.

Child abuse investigation units within Kent Police are dedicated solely to the role of investigating child abuse, and are run by highly trained investigators who are specialists in the field of identifying offences against children. The force has established a public protection unit, which is responsible for protecting vulnerable people. We also work closely with key partners and other agencies. In many cases it is only when information from a range of sources is put together that risk to children can be identified and assessed.

Lord Laming's latest report, following the death of Baby Peter, outlines 58 recommendations across all statutory agencies – 13 relate to the police service. In Kent we are in a strong position to take forward all the recommendations made. This is identified as a key priority.

and became a volunteer with the probation service. He married a prison librarian and a few years later had a daughter.

But getting his first job, with a criminal record in tow, was not easy – which is why he helped set up the charity Unlock.

He also teams up with Kent Police and youth workers to run sessions for youngsters to urge them not to get involved with crime.

Kent Police officer PC Paul Richardson, a safer school partnership co-ordinator in Maidstone, said: "Bobby has helped with a course for children who were thought likely to become involved in crime. He talks about the damage a criminal record can have later in

Tuning into life of former college boy

A CLASSICAL composer who attended Dover College is to have his life documented by a Japanese production company.

Former pupil Dai Fujikura, 32, originally from Osaka, has become known worldwide for his musical compositions

His old housemaster Mr Vanderhoeven, who still works at Dover College, said: "Dai was a delightful young man from the moment he joined us 17 years ago.
"He had very little English but was clearly a prodigious musical talent. He played the piano and scored one of the highest marks ever awarded for the grade-eight piano examination.

"Right from the start it was clear he was going to be a professional musician and at the college we were keen to allow him to develop and express himself.

"It is always lovely to see our old pupils and we have followed Dai's career with a mixture of pride and interest.'

New workshop can add drive to hands-on study

BY MARIJKE COX

A NEW body and paint workshop has now been opened at South Kent College.

Students can now take their Automotive Technician Accreditation (ATA) at the new test centre, which is the only one in the South East. Before the new workshop was opened at SKC, paint-sprayers working in garages across Kent had to travel to Milton Keyes and Ipswich to get their qualifications.

Staff working at body shops in the motor-vehicle industry must have ATA approval before insurance companies allow damaged cars to be repaired by them.

The centre was launched at the college with staff from the ATA, principal Monica Box, viceprincipal Jackie Watt and the first student to take and pass the test at the college, Stuart Lee, from Saville Road, Deal.

The 48-year-old currently works for Campbells car dealers in Kingsdown and was thrilled when he found out he had passed the ATA test.

He said: "It was horrible - I've been doing this job for 25 years, but in this test environment it was nerve-racking.

"I was very pleasantly surprised by myself because there is a high failure rate on the online part of it.

"I would have been gutted if I hadn't passed, so I proved something to myself, but it was not an easy day.

David Somerfield, learning manager for the ART: South Kent College can now offer students the chance to take their Automotive Technician Accreditation centre, said staff working in garages carrying out repairs to the satisfaction of the insurance industry will be able to prove they have the skills needed for the job once they have passed

But he warned people signing up to the test that it wasn't as easy as it seemed.
Principal Monica Box said she was thrilled the college was providing a centre that could service the whole of the South East

She added that the ATA award to SKC was a tribute to the dedication and hard work of staff and college business partners.

She said: "Skills developed here will enable local young people to gain employment and qualifications, as well as attract businesses who will appreciate the standard of work being attained.

FIFA vice-president Jack Warner's attack on England's tournament bid sticks in the craw

Should this man be allowed to savage our World Cup hopes?

ONE of football's major annoyances is at it again.

No, he's not a diver or a moaning manager and I'm pretty sure he doesn't have a WAG who appears in the tabloid press every day. And it's not Sven.

Step forward Jack Warner of Trinidad -FIFA vice-president and head of the American CONCACAF branch of the world game.

And guess what – he's having a go at England's bid for the 2018 World Cup.

Why not wreck the dreams of millions of sports fans in the UK, Jack – and those players and supporters who would love to experience some of the venues they dreamt about when getting a passion for the game, such as Anfield, Old Trafford and Wembley.

"Nobody in Europe likes England" he said. "England is an irritant," he said.

"England invented the sport but has never made any impact on world football."

Jack – 1966 mean anything to you?

A couple of years ago, which two teams played for the biggest prize in club football? Oh yes, Manchester United and Chelsea. Where do you think they come from?

Accusing the bid leadership of being "lightweight" and unknown in international football circles, he said England was failing to make the most of its advantages and falling behind rival bids from Spain and Portugal and Russia.

Luckily, he's on hand with advice: "I would have been more aggressive in the market-place. If I had the Premier League, Beckham and the Queen, there would have been many things I could have done for the people who are voting.

"I would have made them next-door neighbours to make them the first name on people's lips. You have no divine right to anything - you have to earn it."

And the trouble is, he has some power - he has a number of votes for his member nations and can cast them how he sees fit. But let's take a look at the man himself and his career.

The BBC Panorama programme has accused him of serious corruption for using his position and Young, estimated his family made a profit of at least £500,000 from reselling 2006 World Cup tickets he had ordered. A fine was apparently imposed, but only about half has been paid back.

When Trinidad and Tobago played a match against Scotland, he didn't think the islands' FA should have the appearance cheque made out to them. He said it should be made out to him. Luckily, the canny Scots saw through this and refused, but the cheek of it is astonishing.

Then there is the issue of non-payment of correct bonuses to his national team players, an issue on which former West Ham goalkeeper Shaka Hislop - then president of the islands' players association – called him "heavily biased and opinionated".

I could go on - but I won't.

I think you get my point.

TALK TIME

KAROL STEELE

The actress behind the Cheriton and Morehall Carnival Association, who was in last year's Leas Cliff Hall panto, told us how she got involved in acting

How did you first get involved in acting?

My son has always been interested in acting and when the Blackfish Academy opened up in Dover in 2005 I went down with him and they started auditioning for Hood, their first musical. The co-director came out and said "We need some older women" and pointed at me. I ended up getting a principal role.

Tell us about your role in the film The Other Boleyn Girl.

I went for the audition and got a phone call asking me to go for a costume-fitting the next day. I was quite disappointed to find I was only going to be a peasant girl for one day, but fortunately the girl who was upposed to be a Seymour noble-woman couldn't fit in her dress, so I ended up with 10 days' work.

What was it like acting in front of cameras?

Stage is much more an immediate rush – you get a reaction straight away. It's a different kind of excitement when you're putting a film together. There's a lot of sitting around, but there's the anticipation of seeing the finished product. Both are so much fun.

What do you see for the future?

I hope to stick with acting. It gets more exciting with everything I do. I get such a buzz out of it. I'd like to be like Margaret Rutherford – she started later in life.

Thanks to all who supported match

I WAS fortunate enough to see and support the tribute to our Deal 11 from the DBrfc, Royal Marine Band XV.

I thought the memorial match was to involve all within the Deal community.

I invited various businesses in Deal to show their commitment in supporting the memories of our 11, through supporting this match in which the Royal Marines Band come to the Drill Field to show their respect to their comrades.

DBrfc made sure their bellies were full, with bacon rolls and a cuppa on their arrival, thanks to Meat 'n' Place of Deal, and oranges at half-time, thanks to Payne's of Deal.

Tea was chilli and shepherd's pie made by Jayne of The Stag, with food from John Friend.

This support was greatly received and hopefully will be repeated on future Memorial Matches.

But we as residents and businesses could do even more to allow Deal to say thank you.

It is unbelievable to watch the offenders simply get up and walk

We cannot understand why the Community Safety Officers have not seemingly been given the power to issue fines for such unacceptable behaviour. Other towns seem to enforce fines, or indeed at least have notices pointing out the risk of receiving a fine should you discard of your litter in a thoughtless manner.

Pavement the only choice for cyclists

I DID not see Gary Wright's blog attacking cyclists, but I have read the responses in last week's paper and wish to take issue with Clare Read.

Cyclists do not cycle on pavements from choice, they are driven to it.

The alternative is risking life and limb by cycling along roads where there is heavy traffic and parked cars, some of whose occupants open their doors in the path of passing cyclists; negotiating speed bumps where there is no kerbside passage for cyclists; worse still, there are pinch-points where there is no kerbside passage.

Clearly, cycling on the pavement is a lesser evil.

I have never seen a cyclist go through red lights. There is no need, one simply gets off and walks across to the other side, where one remounts.

I admit to occasionally cycling the wrong way down a one-way street. This practice is common in The Netherlands and elsewhere on the Continent.

Why do we always have to lag behind our continental neighbours?

Investment vital to reduce traffic impact

Ian Taylor's figures (Letters, September 30) suggesting what drivers put into the Treasury leave out the impact on the NHS, the courts, policing and the costs of collecting revenue, costs without which the road system cannot function.

Since this means there is a realterms deficit of about £13-14 billion per year, it is reasonable to say private motoring is subsidised.

The Green Party argues that it is worth investing in walking, cycling, buses and the railways to reduce traffic congestion and air pollution.

About 24,000 people die each year as a result of air pollutio.

It would be good to see the views of readers on solutions to pollution and traffic congestion that do not involve building more motorways.

Why did KCC delay in answering question?

I recently wrote to Dover District Council and Kent County Council under the Freedom of Information
Act to find out why the topic for discussion at the Deal Neighbourhood Forum meeting on October 6 had been changed from regeneration to flooding and drainage.
Kent County Council took six days

Kent County Council took six days to tell me that they would endeavour to supply data by October 21.

Dover District Council replied two days after receiving my letter, providing most of the answers to my questions. They said the change was due to Deryck Murray, former Mayor of Deal, raising questions. It's nice to know the public can embarrass our Tory council into action. But why does an authority like Kent County Council need six days to not answer a question that Dover District Council can answer in two?

Help for sufferers of arthritis to keep jobs

Arthritis affects nine million people of all ages in the UK, and is this country's leading cause of disability.

So it makes sense that the theme of World Arthritis Day on October 12 was 'Let's Work Together' to keep people with arthritis in jobs.

Employees with arthritis should ask for the support they need, so get dialling and call Arthritis Care's free helpline on 0808 800 4050 between 10am and 4pm weekdays.

Cut down on salt to reduce risk of cancer

RECENT media coverage has focused on the fact that foods such as breakfast cereals often contain more salt than you might expect.

Most people know that excess salt can increase risk of conditions such as high blood pressure, but evidence shows too much salt also probably increases risk of stomach cancer.

This is why World Cancer Research Fund recommends limiting salt intake to 6g a day. Scientists estimate 14 per cent of the 7,700 stomach cancer cases diagnosed in the UK every year could be prevented if everyone followed this advice.

We have a new publication that explains the links between salt and cancer. We will send a free copy to the first 100 readers who request one by calling 020 7343 4205.

Festival brings together the best in music, theatre, arts and comedy in a fortnight of fun in the city

CANTERBURY FESTIVAL

Saturday, October 17, to Saturday, October 31 Various venues, Canterbury

BIG names in music, theatre, comedy and the arts are flocking to Kent for this year's Canterbury Festival.

From exquisite classical music to riotous children's entertainment, there is something for every taste in the programme of concerts, talks, workshops, exhibitions and events. And with dining and accommodation bargains on offer from The Big Eat and The Big Sleepover promotions, Canterbury is the place to be.

The festival gets underway with the community Carnival Parade, which leaves the Westgate Hall at 5pm on Saturday, October 17.

The cathedral hosts a number of concerts, including the already soldout performance of Handel's Coronation Anthems by Harry Christophers and The Sixteen.

Enjoy the sounds of Russia with the St Petersburg Symphony Orchestra and cellist Guy Johnston, while the Trondheim Soloists bring some Scandinavian influences. The cathedral is also the setting for Canterbury Choral Society's rendition of Haydn's Creation.

Bad Manners will play at the first night party and Cara Dillon, Roberto Fonseca, the Abram Wilson Quartet, the Devon Sproule Band and Polish spectacle The Table all feature in the world music programme, while the Festival Club will rock to the sounds of Los Desterrados, Heads South, Strangeworld, Johnny Flynn and Earl Gaines & The Catfish Kings. Laughs will be provided by the likes of Julian Clary, Stewart Lee, Alistair McGowan, Sarah Millican and Reginald D Hunter, and theatre fans can lose themselves in highquality productions like Gertrude's Secret, Morecambe, The Really Promising Company, Spymonkey's Moby Dick.

Film director, food critic and author Michael Winner, broadcaster Joan Bakewell, adventurer Charley Boorman and new Poet Laureate Carol Ann Duffy, join the diverse line-up of speakers.

Potted Pirates, Stick Man and Beneath the Banyan Tree are among the family shows on offer, while the art will be on display in various exhibitions. With walks, Artists' Open Houses and umbrella events, there is a wealth of entertainment.

Pick up a brochure or go online at www.canterburyfestival.co.uk to see the full listings. Tickets can be booked online or on 01227 787787.

Creep into The Cellar for an indie Halloween night

BY SIMON ROBINSON

CLUBBERS can seek refuge from ghosts, ghouls and un-dead zombie hordes this Halloween at Moogie Wonderland.

The monthly indie-fuelled club night takes place in The Cellar, underneath The Queen Charlotte pub in Rochester High Street

Admittedly, a cellar isn't necessarily the best place to hide when trying to avoid the clutches of the flesh-hungry living dead, witches and other associated Halloween nasties.

But Moogie is offering free cakes. Free. Cakes. If I'm going to meet my maker this Halloween I intend to do so with a free cake in my hand.

A Moogie spokesman said: "The specifics of our Halloween instalment are still being determined, but we thought it best to give you all notice now that the best place to be on Halloween will be The Cellar.

"Those of you who have been at our previous Halloween Moogies will remember happenings most unlike any other regular clubnight in Medway.

"As well as the Halloween mayhem, we'll also find time to play the usual, namely lovely indiepop like Camera Obscura, Belle & Sebastian, Moldy Peaches and I'm From Barcelona, lovely French pop like Jacques Dutronc, France Gall and Serge Gainsbourg, freaky soundtracks, electronic blips, organ blops and noisy psychpunk."

Moogie takes place on Saturday, October 31, from 9pm to 2am.

Entry costs £3. Fosters is £2 a pint.

UNDERGROUND MOVEMENT: It will be a Moogie Wonderland this Halloween in The Cellar in Rochester High Street

Moogie Wonderland nights will also appeal to fans of bands such as Super Furry Animals, The Loves, Magnetic Fields, Of Montreal, Los Campesinos, Hot Chip and The Divine Comedy, among others.

The next Moogie Wonderland will be held on Saturday, November 28, followed by the New Year's Eve party on Thursday, December 31.

Go Gorilla crazy at Howletts & Port Lympne Wild Animal Parks this October!

It's October which means Gorilla Month at Howletts and Port Lympne Wild Animal Parks in Kent. Throughout the month both parks will be going giddy over gorillas with a range of gorillathemed special events taking place everyday!

Howletts and Port Lympne house the world's largest collection of gorillas in human care – with 78 Western Lowland gorillas between the two parks. This half term, children and adults are invited to hear talks from the expert keepers about the parks most famous residents as part of a month of gorilla-themed activities. As well as hearing all about the lives of the gorillas at the parks, visitors can learn about the vital conservation work carried out by the parks through The Aspinall Foundation, which seeks to stop the rapid decline of critically endangered Western Lowland gorilla numbers.

With fewer than 100,000 Western Lowland gorillas left in the world, their extinction is a real possibility by 2020 if numbers continue to decline at the present rate. Through their consistent rescue and rehabilitation projects in Africa, the parks have overseen the release of more than 50 wild-born gorillas—all orphans of the bush-meat trade—into protected areas in the Congo and Gabon. As part of their commitment to breeding endangered species, the parks have also reintroduced 10 handreared gorillas born at the Kent parks to their ancestral homes, including the successful introduction of 3 gorillas last summer to the national park in Gabon.

Gorillas spend over 30% of the day eating, and visitors will have the chance to witness their natural foraging behaviour that Gorillas display when receiving their feeds. Peckish guests can head to the park's restaurant and dining area to curb their own appetites – with each kids meal coming with a free gorilla mask to add a bit of the wild into the dining experience!

As if this isn't enough, every day one lucky visitor (over 7 years old) will win the chance to take part in a gorilla feed by being named as the Golden Ticket winner of the day.* On arrival every child will be given a free goodie bag, packed full of activities to excite their curiosity in gorillas. From colouring sheets to puzzles, gorilla craft sessions to free gifts there'll be more than enough to keep everyone happy this Gorilla month!

And, for a limited time only, you'll be able to book online to save 20% on your ticket price offer ends on 31st October.*

Love happens on screen for single girl Jennifer

THERE has been a special place in the gossip columns for speculation about Jennifer Aniston's love life since her painfully-public split from Brad Pitt four years ago.

The magazine industry's favourite single girl only has to stand next to a member of the opposite sex and the gossip mills are whirring.

"It's a funny feeling when you're walking down a street shooting a movie and all of a sudden, the paparazzi are there and everybody flees, because they don't want to be the person stuck with the 'mystery guy' arrow," jokes Jen, when we meet to chat about her latest film, Love Happens.

The latest rumours concern her friendship with Gerard Butler, with whom she recently finished filming action movie The Bounty.

They've been spotted in Los Angeles, but Jen insists there's nothing romantic going on with the hunky Scottish actor.

"No, but he's a dear friend, I do adore him," she says, a smile lighting her tanned face.

With the media scrutinising her every move, it's hardly surprising Jen seems to have been unlucky in love since her split from Brad.

She dated The Break Up co-star Vince

She dated The Break Up co-star Vince Vaughn, then model Paul Sculfor and had an on-off relationship with singer John Mayer, which ended in March this year.

And with her latest film casting her as a free spirit, who keeps falling for the wrong guy, there's due to be another wave of press intrusion into her love life.

Jen, who turned 40 this year, became a household name playing Rachel Green in the hit Channel 4 US import Friends.

When the show came to an end in 2004, she made the successful leap into movies, with a role in thriller Derailed, alongside Clive Owen.

But more recently, she's become queen of the romcom, with films like Rumour Has It, The Break Up and last year's Marley & Me.

Her latest outing is as a florist in Love Happens. It centres around self-help author and therapist Dr Burke Ryan (Aaron Eckhart), who arrives in the city to teach a sold-out seminar. But all the time he's encouraging his patients to overcome emotional pain, he's unable to deal the death of his wife.

Meanwhile, Eloise (Jen), has sworn off men altogether. But when she bumps into Burke in his hotel and there's an instant attraction.

Jen says: "Eloise sees an opportunity to fix something, and Burke is looking to be healed.

"For him, it's the first time he's allowed his heart to feel. When you do that, you have to clean out the skeletons."

You get the sense that Jen is speaking from experience. It can't have been easy going from being one half of Hollywood's golden couple, to seeing Brad play happy families with Angelina Jolie.

But she shrugs off the sympathy vote. "There's nothing wrong with me," she giggles.

YOUR TV REVIEW

SCARY: Monica Galetti and Michel Roux Junior make Gregg Wallace seem like a teddy bear

BY MARIJKE COX

MASTERCHEF: THE PROFESSIONALS

BBC2, 8.30pm, week nights

BEING a professional chef is the one job in the world at which I know I would completely fail.

Not only because my cooking repertoire consists solely of macaroni cheese, but the thought of effing and blinding my way around a hot, sweaty kitchen with knives and other lifethreatening equipment floating about fills me with dread. That was until I saw Masterchef: The Professionals.

I now think perhaps I wouldn't be too bad after watching some of these hapless 'chefs' shake – yes, really – their way around a kitchen.

In some cases, the contestants have undercooked their food. Even I know that one way to avoid spending a day on the toilet or, worse, killing yourself is to cook a bird properly.

The formula for the show is the same as it's always been — contestants cooking, judges sampling and someone crying while they hurl their chef hat to the floor as they're eliminated from the competition.

Just watching nervous chefs trying to gut a fish under the icy glare of Michel Roux Junior's senior sous-chef Monica Galetti makes me squirm, even from the safety of my sofa.

Her scary facial expressions that cause even the better of the chefs to shake with nerves make co-judge Greg Wallace seem like a teddy bear.

He's the harmless judge the chefs are counting on not to shatter their dreams of owning their own restaurant, winning it for their mum, or whatever unoriginal statement they come out with while sautéing potatoes or pureeing peas.

or pureeing peas.

After the skills and taste test in the first round, one 'professional' is sent packing and the others move on to the versatility test.

The chefs then have 50 minutes to create two dishes from random ingredients. This is when viewers will see chefs from all walks of life trying to 'refine' their food in the hope they will overnight become a Michelinstarred success. If I had a pound for every time a contestant said 'refine', well, you know the rest...

The final challenge is the classic recipe test, which does exactly what is says on the tin – as long as the chefs follow the instructions.

The show is addictive and for any budding chefs out there, if some of those contestants can manage it, I'm sure you can.

A lucky break in historic Lucca

BY TOM PHEBEY

AT Podere Consani, a small group of traditional farmhouses on a plateau in the Tuscan hills, there's never a doubt you're getting away from it all.

You reach the estate via a narrow lane that zigzags its way up wooded hills before petering out into a bumpy dirt track.

This tranquil haven is a million miles from crowded airports where only hours before we had queued and jostled.

But the beautiful medieval city of Lucca is only 20 minutes away by car and a little further, in the opposite direction, lie the coastal resorts of the Tuscan Riviera.

Podere Consani is more than just a holiday retreat - it's an active equestrian centre, a wine-making business and grows loads of its own provisions.

Running the whole enterprise is Susan Beeby, who comes from a farming family in Nottingham and trained as a teacher in London and Leicester before taking a job with an English family in a beautiful villa near Susan married a local geometra (mixture of an architect and surveyor) who specialises in restoring old buildings and they eventually bought Podere Consani, slowly creating the scenic estate it is today.

Susan led my wife and I to La Capanna, one of two rustic holiday homes next to the family home in the main farmhouse.

La Capanna, a converted barn with plenty of beams and terracotta tiles, sleeps four in two double bedrooms and is set on two levels.

It would be incredibly easy to pull out the sunbeds, uncork the wine and not leave tranquil Podere Consani for a week, but there are sights to be seen, places to explore.

We slipped into a routine that involved exploring the area and stocking up in the excellent supermarket, while ensuring plenty of rest and relaxation beside the pool and strolling through the olive groves of Podere Consani.

A day out in historic Lucca is de rigeur for any visitors to this north-western quarter of Lucca was originally a Roman military camp and little has changed since the Middle Ages when a network of narrow alleys and squares was constructed.

The city of 85,000 inhabitants boasts some of the best preserved Renaissance defences in

In baking sunshine we walked through a gate in the imposing walls to find ourselves in a labyrinth of little streets, mainly given over to pedestrians and cyclists, which are worthy of some serious exploration.

While visitors are welcomed, Lucca is thankfully not spoiled by tourism.

In the other direction a ten-mile strip of beachside resorts, from Viareggio to Forte dei Marmi, is about 30 minutes by car from Podere Consani. With acres of golden sand overlooked by mountains, it's an ideal playground for children.

Travel facts

- · Tom Phebey was a guest of Simply Travel, which offers seven nights' self-catering at Podere Consani this summer from £599 (four sharing), including return flights and car hire.
- · Simply Travel reservations: 0871 231 4041 and www.simplytravel.co.uk.

Viareggio is one of the most popular seaside resorts in Italy. The long broad beach has some public areas, but many sections are reserved for the residents of the seafront hotels.

In fashionable Forte dei Marmi, the seafront is packed with beach clubs, which offer access to the beach at a price, and a mini-city of sunbeds and parasols stretches as far as the eve can see.

We paid 15 euros for a few hours on sunbeds, and another 40-odd for a surprisingly good lunch of salad, seafood spaghetti, and wine.

Driving back to Podere Consani, we stopped for dinner. The exterior of Valentino in the hamlet of Fiano, was inauspicious to say the least and we almost turned away.

I'm glad we didn't because this turned out to be the culinary highlight of the holiday.

We were served interesting antipasti followed by succulent homemade ravioli with butter and sage, and a selection of the best ice cream I have ever enjoyed.

Including wine, it cost just 16 euros a head.

PROPERTY NEWS

Make your move while prices are still down

WITH the latest positive reports that mortgage approvals were 81 per cent higher last month than in August, Taylor Wimpey South East is urging house hunters to make their move now to avoid missing out.

The house builder, which has sold 365 homes this year, believes the combination of low interest rates, competitive house prices and a wider range of mortgages, makes now the perfect time to buy. Mark Pajak, regional sales and market-

Mark Pajak, regional sales and marketing director for Taylor Wimpey South East, said: "It's no surprise that record low interest rates and more affordable property prices have been attracting savvy house hunters for a number of months now.

"However, the clear signs of sustained house price growth and news that high street banks are beginning to lend more freely – with price wars breaking out between two major players – is surely the clearest sign yet that the property market is getting back on track.

"Those who have put their moving plans on hold in the hope of prices falling even further should rethink their strategy to avoid missing out."

EXCHANGE RATE: HIPs reduce transaction times by up to 12 days and exchange-ready packs have further reduced times, which is good news for the majority who want fast sales

It's HIP to be upfront when selling your home

A RECENT survey claims the majority of consumers are satisfied with the delivery of their Home Information Packs.

The Ipsos MORI survey, commissioned by the Association of Home Information Pack Providers revealed that six out of seven of those surveyed say the need to obtain a HIP did not influence their decision about whether or not to sell their home.

It also found that 60 per cent said the information provided by the seller in the Property Information Questionnaire (PIQ) is useful to buyers, with nearly three quarters saying it took less than 20 minutes to complete.

A total of 57 per cent agree that home buyers should be provided with more upfront information about the condition of the property that they are buying.

BY NICK AMES

Yet 30 per cent disagreed that providing home buyers with more information about a property before making an offer would improve the buying and selling process.

And unsurprisingly, four out of five agree that the process of buying and selling properties takes too long.

This last finding is further supported by existing research. For example, a study by Connells has already shown that HIPs reduce transaction times by up to 12 days. Exchangeready packs have reduced times even further.

Mike Ockenden, director general of AHIPP, said: "Since HIPs were first launched property industry professionals and politicians have been busy debating their impact. At AHIPP we thought it was about time we looked into what consumers think, as it is the British consumer that the packs were designed to benefit.

"What we've found is yet more evidence that the packs are well received by the general public, as well as being widely supported by the property industry.

"For example, research from Connells out last month looked at 3,000 transactions and found an average reduction of seven days when Exchange Ready Packs were used in the process. The research results indicate that upfront information is key and HIPs are obviously an effective way to deliver this benefit to consumers.

"We all know how stressful buying and selling property can be but the packs really do help you through, as these findings indicate."

Make sure you're getting the right mortgage deal

ESTATE agent Your Move says it is concerned by the increasing number of people asking for help in solving problems with mortgages or remortgages.

The company says great care should be taken when it comes to deciding upon the right deal. Chris Neal, financial consultant for Your Move in Ashford, said: "It's understandable why many people think finding a mortgage is comparatively easy with price often being the only thing that matters to them.

"Many are often swayed by the apparent attractiveness of special deals offered by high street banks and building societies or the implied ease of using so-called 'specialist' internet sites.

"Unfortunately by taking these routes many borrowers are significantly reducing the likelihood of finding the most suitable mortgage for their needs and budget.

"And along the way they may face unexpected costs. For example, high fees or the often pricey lender's insurance.

pricey lender's insurance.
"They may also find, when using internet sites, that they don't have a single point of contact to raise any concerns they may have and don't receive the ongoing support that can prove invaluable, particularly when first getting a mortgage or when a mortgage deal comes to an end.

"Like many DIY projects many people will feel confident they are doing the right thing only to find, further down the line, that it's not all going to plan and that they have to call in the experts to sort them out.

"It's the same with mortgages."

MOTORS NEWS

UK launches new Jazz age for the downsizers

HONDA has shown immaculate timing by starting to build the Jazz at Swindon – a car for recession-hit Britain.

Some 75 per cent of the five-door supermini's production initially will be for domestic sale at a time when UK buyers are downsizing.

The Jazz should also now enjoy a price edge due to the weaker pound, though Government-sponsored £2,000-a-go scrappage grants have boosted sales – 70 per cent of Honda scrappage deals have been for the Jazz.

'New' Golf estate may not be such a change

VW has unveiled a new Golf Estate, or has it? Look closely and this is actually a revamped Golf Mark V estate with Mark VI cosmetics.

Does it matter? Well, both Golf generations share the same chassis and it is pretty well the best in sector, but the Mark VI hatchback, which was launched early this year, set new class standards in cabin refinement and quality; buyers of the 'new' estate may lose out on much of that when it arrives in January. Prices start at £16.380.

Smart economy is well and truly on the record

SMART'S diesel version of its ForTwo has won this year's MPG Marathon with 96.81mpg over a 360-mile route.

Acclaimed for world-beating CO2 emissions of only 88g/km, the 45bhp Cdi was always favourite, but it actually posted the best ever mpg figure in the seven-year history of the economy endurance event as well as improving the Cdi's official combined fuel economy figure of 85.6mpg by more than 13 per cent. Prices start from £6,900 and the Cdi from £9,227.

TOP LEVEL: The Laurin & Klement trim is certainly a cut above the rest for Skoda styling, but it does somewhat limit your choices when it comes to power options

Driving the posh Skoda

LAURIN & Klement is Skoda's poshest trim.

But few people know that, possibly because the attention span of potential buyers crashes when asked to pay a lot more for it than everyday flagship Elegance trim.

The L&K badge comes from mechanic Václav Laurin and book-seller Václav Klement, who founded what became their namesake company and evolved into an upmarket car maker before merging with the Skoda combine in 1925.

Under Skoda's post-Communist era ownership by VW, the L&K badge revived as an exclusive sub-brand – I've just driven 21 grand's worth of L&K Octavia Estate.

Though considerably dearer than an entry level Octavia Estate (from £13,595), the L&K is more capacious than most rivals on price, with a robust cabin plus a shedload of extras.

Over and above the already well-equipped Elegance, L&K spec includes bespoke 17-inch alloys, illuminated interior door handles, L&K kick plates, multi-function steering wheel, leather seats — with heated front pair and electrically-adjustable driver's seat — xenon headlights and ESP (electronic stability control) as on the sporty vRS.

On top of this and a recent facelift, you also get an impressive VW Golf-derived mix of taut handling with decent ride. However, if you take the L&K luxury route, you have less choice of powertrain: there is a turbocharged 160bhp 1.8-litre petrol engine as tested here or a 140bhp 2.0-litre diesel.

a 140bhp 2.0-litre diesel.

It is a tough call. The petrol engine is an excellent all-rounder, with good pulling power across a wide rev range and a 0-62mph time of less than eight seconds, yet sensible driving should mean an average of around 40mpg.

The diesel also has plenty of punch and will do the sprint in 9.6 seconds while averaging at least 10mpg better. But does the diesel have the necessary refinement for the most luxurious Octavia, especially when it costs around £1,500 extra? I can save you another £900 or so too by not opting for the twin-clutch DSG auto box tested here.

Normally a fan of this piece of VW kit with its seamless auto mode and tidy manual selection, it does not partner the 1.8 Turbo so well, leading to some untidiness when pulling away on loose or wet surfaces.

USED CAR ROUND-UP: OUR PICK FROM A KEY SECTOR

carsf@rkent.co.uk

NOT everyone can downsize due to the recession, so big people carriers are still in demand and prices have been edging up – as they have across the used market. Renault drew the 'people carrier' blueprint by launching the purpose-built Espace, but others picked up the ball and ran with it, selling more than the self-styled 'creator of automobiles'; our choices here have certainly outsold the French original. They can be bought as genuine seven-seat family motors that can cope with everything a big family will ask them to.

CHRYSLER VOYAGER

COMMERCIAL and private buyers made the Voyager a big hit in the UK. All versions seat seven, but there is more demand for the extra luggage space of 13-inch longer 'Grand' models and those featuring Stow 'n' Go: under floor capacity that also takes the folded seats when not needed. The smooth and powerful post-2004 diesel auto is the powertrain to go for. Voyagers ride comfortably, but bulk, small wheels and vague steering make for a dull drive.

STAR QUALITY

KIA SEDONA

NEVER mind the quality, feel the width describes the Kia Sedona (1999-2006). Replaced by a more sophisticated model, the original is a cheap, reliable and capacious used buy though the interior is tacky, safety features were not up with rivals and it feels lumpy on rural roads, though excelling as a comfy motorway muncher. The post-2002, 125bhp diesel is the engine to go for if the budget will stretch. Sliding rear doors and a big tailgate make access easy.

FORD GALAXY

IF Renault's Espace distilled the essence of the people carrier, Ford mass-produced it. The 1995-vintage Galaxy plus its VW Sharan and Seat Alhambra clones sold well through generous space and car-like handling. The latter pair are still going strong and should be short-listed if you want something later yet cannot run to the excellent post-2006 second generation Galaxy. Reliability on early 'Mark I' Galaxies is flaky so post-2000 diesels are the best.

NARROW WIN: Dover Sharks held firm in final minutes

RUGBY

Stubborn Sharks cling on to win

Cobham 17 Dover 21

DESPITE a nervous final ten minutes, Dover held on to claim a four-point win in London 1 South at high-flying Cobham.

The Sharks made a poor start to the game and were put under pressure by Cobham for the opening 20 minutes. Dover struggled to get possession and gave away three penalties. Luckily for the visitors only five points were scored by the hosts in the period, courtesy of a well-worked try.

Cobham continued to attack but Dover's defence held firm and they weathered the storm. The Sharks finally got to grips with the pace of the game and started to put together a number of attacking phases of play.

Dover's pack started to dominate and the pressure caused by the forwards allowed the visitors to score their first try. Mark Beaumont was on hand to score and Nick Ford added the extras to give Dover a 7-5 lead. Cobham fought back and the Surrey side re-took the lead on the stroke of half-time with their number eight powering through the Dover defence to score.

Dover began the second half with renewed vigour which prompted their second try of the game. Ford crashed over the Cobham try line and added the conversion to give Dover a 14-12 lead. The Sharks dominated the first 20 minutes of the half and scored a further try, which seemingly put them out of the reach of Cobham.

However, once again Cobham fought back and scored a try to cut the deficit. The conversion was missed which left Dover with a four-point advantage.

The final ten minutes was a nervous affair with Cobham searching for a converted try to win, but Dover hung on to clinch their third win of the season. Dover host Tunbridge Wells this Saturday.

DOVER Athletic are just one win away from the FA Cup first round following a comfortable victory against Welling United at Crabble.

After a goalless first half on Saturday, Andy Hessenthaler's Whites soon kicked into gear and goals from Olly Schulz and Jon Wallis booked Dover's place in the next round of the competition.

The Whites face fellow Blue Square South side Eastleigh in the fourth qualifying round Hessenthalar told Yourdwar "It's nice to be in the next round and get that monkey off our back so to speak. The competition has not been kind to us since I have been in charge."

Both sides lacked urgency at the start and the first half was punctuated with few opportunities. Tom Davis went close on a couple of occasions, but goalkeepers Lee Hook and Charlie Mitten were barely tested.

The Whites came out of the blocks quickly in the second half and took the lead on the hour mark. The unmarked Schulz headed Nicky Southall's free-kick into the net at the far post.

Dover dominated the possession as Welling struggled to get a foothold in the game. On 77 minutes Dover scored a second in a move started by Southall. The former Gillingham midfielder found substitute Jerahl Hughes and Wallis fired his pass into the bottom corner of the not

The Whites seemed content to close out the game but Welling were awarded a penalty in the 90th minute after Jake Hobbs was brought down in the area. Hobbs dusted himself down to take the spot-kick, but Hook tipped the ball round the post to preserve the 2-0 score line.

time out Hesenthaler was reasonably happy with the performance.

He said: "I was desperate for a response after the Worcester defeat. In the first half it didn't really come and the players knew it. However, the second half was much better with a lot more effort from the lads.

"Tom Davis put in a really good shift and worked his socks off. Also it was good to see Jake Leberl out there after his injury."

Elsewhere at the club, striker Andy Pugh has returned to Gillingham after completing his one-month loan at Crabble.

Deal Town 1

Both sides made a positive start to the game and it was the visitors who created the first goalscoring opportunity. Yianni, on loan from Folkestone, released Kieran Byrne, who found Pat Kingwell and his curling effort flew narrowly over Paul Rogers' crossbar. Rogers was called upon minutes later as he saved Kingwell's volley from close range.

Deal soon settled into the game and forced a smart save from Hythe goalkeeper Kieron Mann. Scott Holden found time and space in the area, but Mann got a hand to his shot from point blank range.

Deal came even closer to opening the scoring minutes later. Former Hythe man Mo Takaloo floated a dangerous ball into the area, but

ENTERTAINING: Hythe Town's Kieran Byrne challenges Deal Town goalscorer Scott Holden during the game on Saturday

Holden could only fire against the crossbar.

Hythe ended the half the stronger of the two sides, with Yianni going close with a volley.

Scott Porter's Hythe pushed Deal back at the start of the second half and their pressure was rewarded with the opening goal of the game. Kingwell's cross found Yianni and after his initial shot was saved by Rogers, the Folkestone man slotted the rebound into the net.

Hythe's lead only lasted ten minutes as Deal equalised through Holden. An Aaron Robinson cross found the striker unmarked at the far post and he headed past Mann with ease. Both sides went in search of a goal which would surely win the game in the final 15 minutes but, the game ended in a draw Deal boss Derek Hares thoroughly enjoyed the game but admitted he felt his side had done enough to earn all three points.

He said: "If someone had said to me before the game if I would have been happy with a point I would have said yes. But, looking back I am a little bit disappointed because we certainly had the chances to win the game."

REINFORCEMENTS: Folkestone boss Neil Cugley is hoping that new signing Craig Thompson can deliver the goods

Cugley hopes Thommo is the striker to find the net

FOLKESTONE Invicta have increased their attacking options by signing former Maidstone United and Faversham Town striker Craig Thompson.

Scoring goals has been an issue for Neil Cugley's side with just eight in as many games this season. The Folkestone boss has been unhappy with his striker's form and with Dave Cory rejoining Whitstable Town, Cugley moved quickly to bring in a new addition to his strikeforce.

Thompson has struggled to get into Justin Luchford's Faversham side this season after joining the club from Maidstone. However, the Invicta boss believes he could solve the club's goalscoring problems.

He said: "Craig will give us more options up front for sure. We have struggled to score goals this season, especially with Jimmy in a bid to increase his fitness levels.

Elsewhere, midfielder Michael Yianni has joined Kent League side Hythe Town on loan

Cugley said: "Michael just needs to get games under his belt. He has not been able to produce his best so far this season, but that is down to the fact he has been out of the game for two years. He is on a dual registration with us and Hythe. Hopefully a few more games will see him return to his true form."

The score sparked a reaction from Folkestone and a move started by a kick from Simon Harris was finished by Adam Tolman. Jon Morton added the extras to give the hosts a slender two-point lead.

It was Horsham's turn to respond and it didn't take long for them to add to their tally. Minutes later they scored their second try of the afternoon to regain the lead. Folkestone regrouped and levelled the game mid-way through the half with a try from Dean Quinn.

Folkestone soon began to control the game and scored an impressive solo try through Ben Brooks, who ran through several tackles to score under the posts. Morton added the extras to give Folkestone a 19-12 lead.

Although forced to defend for a period, Horsham made a stronger start to the second half and took advantage of Folkestone being reduced to 13 men after two players were sent to the sin bin.

Within minutes Horsham found a gap in Folkestone's defence and scored their third try, as the game entered the final ten minutes. The score levelled the game at 19-19.
